WARNING:

All monitors contain high voltage circuits. These circuits retain a dangerous high voltage even after the power is turned off and the plug is removed. There is a strong potential for a fatal electrical shock. The only person who should attempt to repair or adjust these circuits is a service technician who has been properly trained. Anyone else who attempts to do the same, risks damaging the monitor, injury, or even death. We will not accept responsibility for any repairs performed by non-EIZO Nanao trained service people. Any such repair is made at the user's own risk and any warranty for the monitor is invalid once such a repair or adjustment is performed.
